

VI. ABSTRACT

A new and improved apparatus is disclosed for reducing the glare that is present in side view mirrors at night from headlights from other vehicles. The apparatus comprises a standard side view mirror that has an extra layer, with the extra layer being either a layer of tinted glass or smoked glass. The layer of tinted glass or smoked glass would be located on the outside of the standard rear view mirror.

20250701 10:00:00